
Peer-to-Peer Consultation

If your prior authorization request (PAR) has been denied for lack of medical necessity, the ordering provider listed on the PAR may request a phone consultation with an eQHealth Solutions physician reviewer to discuss the rationale behind the denial. The ordering provider may also present information that can potentially overturn the denial.

This discussion is known as a Peer-to-Peer (P2P) consultation and may be requested within five (5) calendar days of a medical necessity denial.

This document provides information on the P2P consultation Process.

Overview of the P2P Process

The following steps outline the P2P Process:

1. PAR is denied for lack of medical necessity
2. Decision is made by Provider to request a P2P consultation
3. P2P consultation request is submitted
4. eQHealth Solutions confirms the date and time of the P2P consultation
5. P2P consultation takes place

Each of these steps is described in detail below:

Step 1: PAR is denied for lack of Medical Necessity

A PAR can be denied for one of two reasons:

- The information submitted does not substantiate medical necessity
- Or Technical policy requirements have not been met.

A Medical Necessity Denial occurs when an eQHealth Physician determines that the information submitted does not substantiate the medical necessity of the service requested. For example, a PAR requesting a wheelchair for a client diagnosed with a broken hand will be denied for lack of medical necessity.

A Technical Denial occurs when a PAR violates a policy set forth by the Department of Health Care Policy & Financing (HCPF). For example, a PAR that does not include adequate supporting documentation will be denied for lack of information (LOI)

Step 2: Decision is made to Pursue P2P consultation

There are two possible goals of a P2P consultation:

- To increase understanding of why a PAR was denied to avoid similar denials in the future and/or to present a differing clinical opinion in the hopes of reversing a denial.

If you have decided to pursue a P2P consultation and the PAR was denied within the last five (5) calendar days, the ordering physician or a representative from their office may request a P2P consultation.

Step 3: P2P Request is submitted

Either the Ordering Physician or a representative from the ordering Physicians office may request a P2P consultation.

Requests can be made via:

- Phone: 888-801-9355
- Fax: 866-940-4288
- Online Helpline Ticket through eQSuite® Portal

Please include a Date and Time Preference with each request.

Step 4: eQHealth Solutions confirms the date and time of the P2P Consultation

Once the P2P consultation request is received a representative from eQHealth Solutions will reach out to the ordering provider within 1-2 Business days to schedule and confirm the date and time of the P2P consultation.

Step 5: Consultation Takes Place

The eQHealth Solutions Physician reviewer will initiate the P2P consultation by Phone on the scheduled date and time.

If, during the course of the discussion, the ordering Physician presents a differing clinical perspective that the eQHealth Solutions reviewer agrees with, the Physician reviewer may issue a Full or Partial reversal of the denial. If the eQHealth Solutions Physician reviewer does not see the reason to change the original determination, then the original PAR decision will stand.

Requesting a P2P Consultation

There are three methods by which the ordering physician can request a P2P consultation:

- Phone: 888-801-9355
- Fax: 866-940-4288
- Online Helpline Ticket through eQSuite® Portal

If you are the ordering Physician or are a representative from the ordering Physicians office, please follow the Step-By Step instructions below to request a P2P consultation.

Please ensure you have the following items:

- The denied PAR's Review ID or PAR number
- The ordering Physicians contact information including, name, phone number and email address.
- Preferred Date(s) and time(s) for the P2P consultation

Instructions for submitting the request in eQSuite®

1. Click Online Helpline in the Menu Bar

2. Enter the Review ID or PAR number in the appropriate Field

A screenshot of the eQSuite form for entering Review ID or PAR number. The form is a rectangular box with a white background and a black border. It contains several input fields and labels. The 'Review ID:' label is followed by a yellow input field and the text 'Do NOT enter other values if Review ID is entered.' Below this, the 'PAR #:' label is followed by a yellow input field. To the right of the 'PAR #' field are the 'Client #:' and 'Admit Date:' labels, each followed by a yellow input field. Below these fields is the text 'Do NOT enter a Client # or Admit Date if a PAR # is entered.' A black arrow points to the 'PAR #' input field.

3. Type in your request in the space provided. Please make sure to include your preferred date(s) and time(s) as well as contact information. Then click Submit Question.
